

Whitebait stand notification

Provision of information as required under Permitted Activity Rule 4.2.6.1

The placement, construction, alteration and use of your whitebait stand will not require a resource consent as long as you can comply with all the conditions of Permitted Activity Rules 4.2.6.1 or 16.4.3 at all times.

Rule 4.2.6.1 requires persons who wish to construct a compliant stand to provide details of the stand's location to the Waikato Regional Council. Completion of this form enables you to meet that requirement.

- Make sure you fully complete this form and answer all the questions. Include all the information requested, with as much detail as possible.
- Fully complete any required fields.
- Sign and date this form and return it to the Waikato Regional Council.

Important – You must comply with all conditions of the relevant rules. In particular we draw your attention to the minimum separation distances between stands. A distance of 30 metres is required between stands that are located outside the coastal marine area, and 20 metres for stands located within.

If you have legal site access and the required space and area available, we strongly recommend that you begin construction as soon as possible. Your registration with the Waikato Regional Council does not allow you to reserve a space. It is simply notification to us that you intend to shortly construct a whitebait stand that appears to be legally compliant with our rules. If the defined space remains unused then we have no way of preventing someone else from constructing a stand at that location before you as long as:

- they have permission from the landowner
- they notify us of their intention to build
- their stand is compliant with all the conditions of the relevant rule.

This would mean that you would have to find a new space for your stand or apply for a resource consent before you could construct it.

Please make sure you carefully read the information section at the end of this form. If you need any further help, please phone our Resource Use staff on 0800 800 402.

Important information

Your advice:

- helps new stands to comply with a condition of Permitted Activity Rule 4.2.6.1 which says you must notify us at least 10 days before stand construction commences
- identifies your whitebait stand as a structure that does not appear to require a resource consent, based on the information you supplied us
- helps us locate your stand, both on our mapping system and when we are out on the river
- identifies you as the party who is responsible for ensuring the stand continues to comply with our rules.
- If we should find that your stand does not comply with any of the permitted activity rules you may be subject to enforcement action or have to apply for a resource consent for your structure.

Identification number

We will notify you by letter when we receive your information. This letter will provide you with an identification number. You may wish to display this number on your stand.

Stand ownership and access

- The Waikato Regional Council does not control ownership of and access to the whitebait stand structure.
- The land next to popular whitebait fishing rivers is often owned by the Department of Conservation or the local district council and is usually open for public use. Anyone can fish within these areas, provided they comply with fishing regulations. This means that the general public can also legally access your stand.
- For areas on private land, you must have permission from the landowner to cross their land and to have a stand on their property. If you don't own the land where your stand is located, then the stand can be legally removed by the landowner.
- Any person lawfully accessing that land can access any structure on that land, including your whitebait stand.

Whitebait fishing rules

The Waikato Regional Council regulates whitebait stands because we are responsible for managing structures on and in waterways. The Department of Conservation is responsible for managing New Zealand's whitebait fisheries, and they have rules associated with whitebait fishing. Please make sure you are familiar with these rules.
